

HORRIBLES ASSURED FOR THE PARADE

Many Entries and a General Interest in the Revival.

The revival of the Antiques and Horribles for the Fourth of July parade is attracting considerable attention and a good sized turn out is expected. Some inquires have been made as to whether outsiders would be permitted to enter and the committees say yes, the more the merrier. An invitation is extended to everybody, in this city and surrounding town to get in and take a chance for one of the prizes. Several entries have been made from Kittery and Rye in addition to a good number from this city. One man in Rye has a coach of a most antique type and he will be in line.

Those who are to enter the parade will meet on Pleasant street at the head of Franklin and everybody is expected to be in line by nine o'clock. The last time the Horribles which for years were seen here, was in 1883. This year seems to be a good year for the revival of the Antiques and Horribles, and Manchester and Haverhill are to have big parades and Portland and other cities are getting in line. The plans for the other part of the safe and sane Fourth are coming along fast and it is expected that there will be a large turn out of the children in costumes.

DEFECTIVE SCALES AND MEASURES BEING SEIZED

Sealer Andrews Finds Many Short Weight Scales and Measures---Cream Jars Condemned

Sealer of Weights and Measures which were in some cases far short of the required size, have been seized and all they use now must bear the seal of the Portsmouth sealer. In the past two on three days the pressure has been exceedingly low and there has been many complaints to the board of public works and Mayor Badger.

On Saturday night the hospital could get any water on the second floor and in certain section of city only a small stream flowed from the pipes. Today there is less than ten feet of water in the stand pipe and the people in their alarm have put it up to the mayor who issues a notice in this edition of the Herald. The notice should be heeded by every body for the general good.

Supt. J. E. Parker of the Board of Public Works, when seen by the Herald representative this afternoon stated that the main cause of the shortage of water in the city the past three days had been the excessive use and the inability of the pumping stations to pump against the hundreds of hose which were being used about the city.

For the past two days the stations have pumped 1,800,000 gallons of water a day or 300,000 more than the normal flow. At the present time the wells are down to 20 feet but this while low is not as bad as in previous

WATER SITUATION VERY SERIOUS

Excessive Use of Water Causes Shortage and Use of Hose Must Be Discontinued

As many of our residents predicted months ago the water situation in this city has become a serious matter. For the past two on three days the pressure has been exceedingly low and there has been many complaints to the board of public works and Mayor Badger.

BOOK-CASES

That Are Right

"Show me what a man reads and I'll tell you how he treats his wife."

There's more to this old quotation than you might think. You can size up a man from his books. Their condition often gives you a picture of his character. It's a sign of progress of civilization that millions of people today keep books in glass covered cases to protect them from grime and dust.

Globe-Wernicke bookcases that "build up" as you need them make it possible for anyone to own a glass covered bookcase to fit the exact number of his books. We sell hundreds of Globe-Wernicke bookcases every year. The cost is trifling.

John Ross, who was arrested at York Beach Saturday for Baltimore authorities on charge of killing Samuel Marshall of that city last September, and was taken to Alfred jail to await the arrival of the Maryland officers, started for Baltimore today.

According to Ross' version of the shooting it was an accidental discharge of a revolver which killed Marshall.

Head-on Collision on Atlantic Shore Line at Kittery

A head on collision on the York Beach branch of the Atlantic Shore street railroad took place at Ferry Lane, Kittery Point, Saturday afternoon, three persons being injured and a score more badly shaken up and bruised.

The car which left Badgers Island ferry at 2 o'clock in charge of motorman Quinby and conductor Walker, it is claimed did not heed the block signal at Emery's siding near Ferry lane, and was trying to make the Champenowne siding to pass the up car.

The car had hardly left Emery's siding when the up car, in charge of motorman Kimball and conductor Hobbs, came around the curve and down the steep grade. Both motormen stuck to their posts and tried to avert a collision, but the two cars came together with considerable force and all of the passengers received a severe shaking up and many were thrown against the seats and bruised.

On the up car were between 25

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

"The Parable of the Lost and Found," was the theme of the sermon delivered by the Rev. Harold M. Folsom at St. John's Church on Sunday morning, his text being, "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth," the text taken from St. Luke XV-10, a portion of the gospel for the third Sunday after Trinity. It being the first Sunday in the month, Holy Communion was celebrated at the 10:30 a. m. service in the church.

Miss Alice Hutchinson of Boston rendered the aria, "Come Unto Him," from "The Messiah," by Handel, as an offertory solo.

The annual picnic of St. John's Sunday school was held last Wednesday at Hampton Beach.

The rector will attend the conference for church workers at the Cambridge Theological school this week.

On Sunday morning, July 16 the annual offering for diocesan mission will be taken.

During July and August the session of the Sunday school and evening prayer will be discontinued.

The rector held the first of a series of Sunday evening services at Hotel Wentworth, New Castle last evening, these to continue on Sunday evenings, during July and August, under the direction of the Bishop coadjutor of the diocese of New Hampshire.

A LOCAL BOY WILL CAPTAIN BASE BALL TEAM

For the first time in its history a Portsmouth boy has been selected to lead the New Hampshire college baseball team during the season of 1912 in the person of George A. McPheters. He was born in this city Sept. 30, 1890, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George McPheters, and his education was gained in the public schools. While at the High school he was a member of the baseball team during the entire four years, playing shortstop for the last three years.

Since he entered New Hampshire college, he has made an enviable record, making the team in his freshman year as third baseman. During his sophomore year he was ineligible. The past year, however, he has covered second base in fine style, his fielding being exceptionally good. He showed up well in stickwork and at the end of the season had a batting average of .300. He was one of the fastest base runners on the team and opposing catches found it impossible to keep him from stealing bases.

He has also occupied the pitcher's box, and during the past season pitched a 14-inning game against Exeter, allowing only eight hits. He has occupied the pitcher's box for the Portsmouth A. C. on several occasions and did good work.

McPheters has not confined himself to baseball, but since he entered college has played on this class football and basketball teams and was manager of his class baseball team during his freshman year.

He is popular among his associates and is a member of the Zeta fraternity Casque and Casket, College club and athletic association.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Thumps In Pigs

Thumps is an ailment so common to young pigs that a knowledge of its prevention or cure should be courted by every breeder. The spasmodic jerking of the flanks is so severe at times as to move the entire body to and fro. There is usually a derangement of the digestive organs and nerves, due, it is believed, to over-feeding and lack of exercise. But many pigs are predisposed to the trouble by inheritance. If you own swine that are afflicted with thumps generation after generation it will be well to seek the infusion of fresh and harder lines of blood. Careful breeding and abundant, enforced exercise will often prevent its appearance for many years.

To cure a case that is well gentled is difficult, and no medicine need be used except to give each little sufferer a half ounce of castor oil once as a purge and one grain of digitalis three times a day as a sedative. Let the pigs have a sunny place to lie, and induce activity as much as possible by having this shed some distance from the sow or place of feeding. If the pigs refuse to move about they must be driven each day until they voluntarily take the needed exercise. To shut them from their dam half an hour daily or oftener will cause them to worry and move about and so prove beneficial.

Packing Butter.

Butter that is to be held should be packed in jars or in paraffined or parchment lined tins, care being taken to put it in solidly so that no spaces occur. The best dairy salt should be used. The top of each package should be smoothed off, a circle of parchment or cheesecloth placed on it and then salt enough added to keep it completely from the air. This butter must be kept in a cellar, ice-house or well where it is as cold as possible and where the temperature may be maintained at one point without varying.

Horse Manure Best.

It may be desirable to know the why of the individual richness of the manures from animals. The horse is at the top on this account. That of the hog comes next, and then that from the ox. The manure from the cow is at the bottom of the list, this being due to the enriching substances in her food going to the formation of milk, leaving the manure comparatively weakened.

CORN AND COB MEAL FOR HORSES.

An Excellent Ration When Properly Balanced.

Some feeders complain that horses fed on a crushed corn and cob ration appear subject to attacks of gastric colic, and such will be the case if this is made the one item entering into their daily feed, writes M. Coverdell in the Farm Journal.

The dry, woody consistency of the cob in crushed corn is what causes the trouble. The combination is naturally less digestible than purely grain rations and thus will remain in the stomach too long unless something is done to move it on. Horses that are idle or stand in stall a goodly portion of the time are more liable to be attacked by ailments brought on by the use of the corn and cob meal than those animals which are worked or in other ways secure plenty of open air exercise.

We never under any circumstances make the corn and cob meal the entire ration for horses, but add a quart or more of oats, bran, etc., to act as a laxative for keeping the cob portion of the feed on the move. Even two or three ears of whole corn will serve the purpose by furnishing a greater amount of grain and inducing more mastication. This is all that is necessary, and by closely watching the manure passing from the animals one can best tell the proper amount of laxative feeds to give. Where too much of the corn and cob meal is being fed for the health of the animals their manure becomes hard and dark colored when it should be moderately soft and of a bright golden cast. Too much roughage is also to be guarded against when the corn and cob ration is fed, as considerable roughage will be extracted from the cob portion of the feed.

Points of a Good Cow.

A good milk cow has broad hind quarters and thin fore quarters, thin and deep neck, pointed withers, head pointed between the horns, flat and thin boned legs and fine hair. Choose one with udder well forward and teats wide apart and large enough to be easily grasped. A medium sized cow will give the most milk in proportion to the food she eats.

When to Feed Horses.

Feeding horses at least an hour and a half before harnessing them and giving them a full hour at noon is not only humane, but it is profitable to the owner. Horses shown these attentions last longer, do better service and are more free from ailments.

LOSES LIFE AT OGUNQUIT

Body of William H. Fields, Representative of Elevator Firm of New York City, Found on Beach

Ogunquit, Me., July 2—The body of a bather was found on the Ogunquit beach shore late Saturday, one mile above the bathing pavilion.

An examination of the bathhouse disclosed the man's clothes and his identity as William H. Fields of 220 Broadway, New York, a representative of an elevator company.

The man was about 35 years of age, weighed 220 pounds and was light complexion. It could not be learned where the man had been stopping at the beach. Death had been caused by drowning.

OBSEQUIES

John W. Collins

The funeral services of the late John W. Collins was held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning at 8 o'clock. Rev. Fr. R. J. Walsh officiated. Following the service the remains were sent to Lawrence by funeral director W. P. Miskell. The following were the pall bearers: Patrick Heaney, William Bailey, William O'Brien and John O'Brien.

The funeral of Hon. Charles P. Berry, was held at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon from the Congregational church, and it was largely attended by a representative body of business men and former employees.

Previous to the services at the church a short service was held at the house. Rev. L. H. Thayer, D. D. the pastor officiated at both services and he spoke feelingly of the life of the deceased. Mrs. Hersey sang three solos during the service. The pall bearers were Hon. Calvin Page, Hon. John W. Emery, Hon. John Pender, Messrs William K. Hill, Gustavo Peyser, and Dr. E. O. Crossman.

The body was taken to Mt. Auburn at 10:30 this forenoon for cremation. Undertaker O. W. Han was the funeral director.

GALLINGER OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY

Concord, July 3.—U. S. Senator Gallinger reached his home in this city Saturday and will remain over the Fourth. In an interview he said he saw no reason why the special session of congress should not be concluded by the first of August.

Few senators, he said, except the insurgents, wanted to talk on the reciprocity bill. Senator La Follette's forthcoming tariff speech is the only one promised of great length. His purpose, in view of Mr. Gallinger, is to inaugurate his boom for the presidency.

As for the reciprocity bill itself, the senator said, he had been utterly unable to see any valid reason, so far as the interests of the United States are concerned, for the agreement between this country and Canada. It practically contemplates an exchange of competing products, which is not true reciprocity, as said, and in addition to sacrificing the interests of the farmers along the border, will, beyond a question, prove exceedingly detrimental to the paper industry of the New England states and New York.

Notwithstanding, he said, the agreement will undoubtedly pass by a large majority in the senate and become a law.

Recalling the results of the reciprocity agreement between this country and Canada from 1854 to 1863, Senator Gallinger said that he has no idea that the present agreement will last many years because the people of this country, he thinks, will not be willing permanently to sacrifice their interests for the benefit of our neighbor on the north.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

DON'T WASTE THE WATER

Editor Herald:—Are the citizens of Portsmouth what we are up against in case a fire gets the start on the fire department the water at the Spring is getting low and there is not pressure enough on the hydrants during the day to reach the top of a two story building. It is understood that none of our steamers are in first class condition and cannot be relied on to draft water from the river at low tide which they might be called upon to do in the event of a fire near Market Square. The water is being used on lawn fountains and street as freely as though there was an abundance and it is up to the people to be careful of fires and if one starts send in the alarm as soon as possible. King of Amateur Distance Runners To Go After Two Mile Record

GEORGE BONHAG

New York, July 3.—Though the creator of a new American record for three miles and champion all the way from that distance to ten miles, both indoors and outdoors, George Bonhag, one of the greatest long distance runners, if not the greatest, is going to rest on his laurels. He has mapped out a strenuous campaign for the rest of the season that ought to give him an opportunity not only to smash a few more records, but to better his own. Bonhag is desirous of establishing a new mark for two miles. Tell Berna of Cornell is the American outdoor record holder for two miles. At the intercollegiate championships he recently bettered the last year's mark by one and two-fifths seconds, bringing his figures to 9 minutes 25.1-5 seconds. The Irish-

American A. C. star performer is the rightful heir indoors for that distance with the time of 9 minutes 11.5 seconds. A few weeks ago at College park he came within three-quarters of a second of tying Berna's time, and any one was willing to admit afterwards that if he had been pushed hard enough he would have easily sent it skyward. That certainly was some peaches and cream race Bonhag ran at the New York A. C. on Travers Island recently. Just twenty-one years last Memorial day Willie Day started the athletic world when he was clocked in three miles in the remarkable time of 14 minutes 23 seconds flat. Alfred Shrubly is the world's record holder with 14 minutes 17.3-5 seconds, made on May 21, 1903.

BATHER DROWNED IN SIGHT OF WIFE

James Gidley Taken with Cramps at Salisbury Beach—Body Recovered This Morning

James Gidley, of 71 Center street, Lawrence, a wool sorter, was drowned while bathing in the surf at Salisbury beach Sunday. He was bathing in the surf near the center and was carried off his feet by the undertow. He was saved by members of the volunteer life saving crew and other bathers looking seaward.

Gidley was just beyond the breakers, and it is supposed he was seized by cramps. He shouted loudly for help and disappeared before anybody could reach him. He had come to the beach to spend the holiday.

John Morin of Boston had a narrow escape from drowning at the beach Sunday. He was bathing in the surf near the center and was carried off his feet by the undertow. He was saved by members of the volunteer life saving crew and other bathers and resuscitated.

The body of Gidley was recovered this morning by the life saving station patrol and although it had only been in the water twelve hours it was badly eaten and disfigured.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT THE HOSPITAL

For many years the local hospital has been cramped for accommodation for the nursing corps and the matter has been given much consideration by the directors. At present the nurses are obliged to room outside and have for the past six months been quartered in the Perkins house on South street. Though not officially given out it is understood that two needed improvements will be made in connection with the institution as soon as possible.

It is understood that a nurses' house will be built on the South street side of the grounds and also a surgical pavilion will be erected. The architect who will get out the plans for the elevator will be at the hospital today to get figures out for his part of the work.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Juvenile Portsmouth is today anticipating with characteristic eagerness the celebration of a safe and sane Fourth—a condition for which apprehensive fathers and mothers have long and fervently hoped and prayed. This year they will be to a great extent absolved of the harrowing dread that some loved little one will be momentarily brought home a bandaged, mangled and suffering bit of humanity through an innocent observance of the greatest of holidays in the pernicious old way.

For this immeasurable relief, the philanthropic citizens who furthered the plans for a safe and sane Fourth of July, and the public spirited citizens whose executive abilities promise to make it a success deserve the lasting gratitude of all parenthood. Moreover, in their solicitude for Young America's welfare they have shown patriotism of a sterling sort.

There need be no fear that a safe and sane celebration of America's glorious independence, if not violently demonstrative, is indicative of deterioration of the immortal spirit of '76. As a matter of fact it effectively proves the young people's worth as American citizens—proves them level-headed, sensible and desirable subjects of the greatest republic in the world—induces confidence in the future of the nation that its stamina is so substantially constituted.

Aviator Atwood has won laurels galore, and now he'll quit if he knows where he's at.

The Morse high school of Bath, whose donor is now visiting in Atlanta, might be rechristened Remorse.

What we want to know is whether Queen Mary's coronation train, sixty feet long, has red or green lights on the caboose, says the Pittsburg Press would engineer it through a crowd without a crew of train hands to assist.

Letter Carrier Justin A. Emery received word yesterday that he had passed the examination for admission to the New Hampshire bar, says a Rochester news item. Only a New Hampshire letter carrier could have done it.

Louisburg, C. D., seeks to induce a Gloucester packing house to locate in the town that Sir William Pepperell and his army once captured. It also seeks to capture Sir William's body, but his rest in the tomb at Kittery will not be interrupted.

Kenneth Linn of Cotuit, Mass., who escaped from his nurse while mentally deranged and went to sea in a sailboat, should have times his escape to coincide with that of Raymond Blackmore, who sailed out of Essex recently under identical circumstances. What a pair of buccaners they would have made!

The pleasant news comes from Georgia that the biggest baby in the world lives and thrives abundantly at Mount Airy, in that state. The young hopeful, in question is James Adolph Cody, aged two years and three months, who weighs 122 pounds and is growing daily. We fear that Seneca Valley is hopelessly outdistanced.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

May Prove a Benefit

The reported refusal of the Boston and Maine to haul the through cars of the Grand Trunk to Old Orchard, Kennebunkport and other coast resorts along the Maine coast, is in accordance with the fixed policy of the New Haven to discriminate against the Canadian road which has dared to extend its mileage to southern New England. It, however, should result in further extensions of the Grand Trunk in Boston and Maine territory the public will gain the benefit of genuine competition which is very desirable in this part of the country. The theory of absolute monopoly with wise regulation is excellent, but better service is insured when the passenger has a choice between two independent roads.—Providence Journal.

In Many Languages

In the announcement of the arrangements made for the celebration of Independence day it is stated, "That none may suffer by reason of brief residence in this country there will be speaking in many languages." The phrase is interesting. No other national festival is celebrated in many languages. Even in the widespread empire of Great Britain the anniversaries that mark the birth of the king or some other event of national significance are commemorated in speech of one language.

New York is not more cosmopolitan in her commerce or in her population than is London or Paris, but she alone allows into her citizenship men of all races and creeds and infuses them all with the inspiration of a common patriotism.

Moreover, the great Declaration of 1776 appeals to men of many races. Hardly any people can be indifferent to the principles it sets forth. It has its meaning for the friends of liberty or for the victims of despotism in all lands. In this very city thousands of those that listen to speeches made upon it in English will not be so deeply stirred as will some that hear it expounded in Russian or Polish or Yiddish.—New York World.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

To the Portsmouth Herald:—On the afternoon of Independence Day, Green Acre will for the seventeenth year, open its doors to all lovers of knowledge and seekers of truth wherever they abide or by whatsoever name they may call themselves.

The program will be given in the big tent and the speaker of the day, Dr. Berle of Shawmut Congregational church, Boston, has chosen for the occasion the appropriate subject "American Independence, An International Triumph."

To the many who have listened to Dr. Berle in the past this announcement will be a sufficient inducement to come to hear him again, a further inducement, however, is offered in the musical numbers which will be rendered by Miss Mellette Melrose whose charming personality and sweet voice have, for the past two seasons been one of the great attractions here. Miss Melrose will sing "With Verdure Clad," and, "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth."

True to its traditions and principals Green Acre will in the future, as in the past, stand for the broadest, most comprehensive outlook life, and for the truest internationalism.

From its platform will be heard in turn noted men and women of our own, and other nations who, along different lines, are all trying to do helpful service in the world.

Religion and science; philosophy and pedagogy; philanthropy, literature and music will all have their able exponents.

During the first week of July we will have with us M. T. C. Chu, President of the Chinese Academy of Arts and Sciences, who will speak on Confucianism and the Present Religious Situation in China. At about the same time, probably Sunday, the 9th, Miss Pina Hu, a Wellesley student and editor of the Chinese Annual, will speak on Chinese Homes. Miss Hu, who is one of the bright young women whom China is sending to America to graft the culture of the West upon that of the East, is a most interesting writer and speaker as well as she writes.

Among others who will be in Green Acre in July is the Rev. William R. Lord of Dover; the Swami Paramananda of India; Mr. William George of New York, founder of the George Junior Republic; and Rabbi Eliezer of Boston, who made so many friends last year when he visited Green Acre for the first time.

One of the special features of this season's work will be a weekly social day which will occur every Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the Elricoln.

Different women members of the Fellowship will take charge of these great upon his recommendations for

A TIMELY TOPIC

BY

JAMES J. HILL,
 The Eminent Railroad Financier.

Future Control of Corporations

I HAVE believed in, and have advocated, publicity of corporation reports for many years. When the public becomes conversant with corporation affairs and is convinced that it is seeing from the inside, much of the feeling against the great business concerns will pass away. That will be one of the effects of publicity.

A corporation is a piece of paper bearing the stamp and seal of the state. Its life is created by the people and naturally the people should have some work in making the rules under which it transacts business. That proposition is one I have preached for years and now I am glad to see it making headway among common carrier corporations. Last week President Mudge of Rock Island railroad declared for public control of railroads; George M. Reynolds, president, Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago did the same thing the week before; T. N. Vail, president American Telephone and Telegraph recently made an official report to his board of directors in which he took a firm stand for both publicity and public control.

But that control must be intelligently administered. Public control simply because it is a control by the public, is not all. It must be intelligent, as I have always contended. Intelligent people will ask and expect nothing more. Vail, Reynolds and the others are right in advocating publicity and public control. Both are things which eventually will go far towards making a good feeling between the corporations and the people, and will assist in settling much of the antagonism which now seems to prevail.

weekly reunions, to which all friends of Green Acre are cordially invited and every effort will be made to strengthen and develop the always present, spirit of good-will and friendliness.

As usual, weekly programs of lectures, etc., will be issued by the secretary.

DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District Nursing association is called for Wednesday, July 5th, at 7.45 p. m., at the probate court room on State street.

The usual reports of the secretary and of the treasurer will be presented. The election of officers and any other business will follow.

Amendments as to filling vacancies and as to representation of organizations on the Board will be offered.

NAVY YARD CAPACITY TO BE KEPT SECRET

A very confidential order which came from the secretary of navy recently is being read out daily to the heads of the several departments and the method in which the department ordered the delivery of this ruling naturally caused much anxiety among the civilian workmen as well as naval officials. The order applies to the strictest secrecy.

Previously a visiting officer was given every facility in any navy yard of the United States, but the cry that our military secrets were becoming known abroad has led the secretary to order the change.

Visitors will be shown through the residential section, and may be over some of the ships, but they are not to be piloted where they can make an accurate estimate of equipment, capacity and material of American yards.

There is, it is alleged scarcely a naval power in the world that does not accurately know the capabilities of American navy yards for making repairs to crippled or disabled ships and just the number and size of ships that can be accommodated.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

A correspondent of the New Orleans Delta says the popular song "I wish I was in Dixie" isn't the peculiar property of the South by any means. It was popular in New York City seventy years ago and originated from the following circumstances. When slavery was common in New York State on "Dixie" owned a large tract of land on Manhattan island, and a large number of slaves. The slaves being removed subsequently to more secure slave section the negroes who were thus sent off naturally looked back to their old homes where they had lived in clover with feelings of regret as they could not imagine any place like Dixie. Hence it became synonymous with an ideal locality, combining ease comfort and material happiness of every description.

Man sold for vagrancy—A Cincinnati exchange says that a man named Semple, who is connected with one of the oldest and most respectable families of Cvington, Ky., but who has degenerated into a mercenary, was sold at public auction by the Sheriff recently for inebriate vagrancy. Andy Herod, jailor, became his purchaser for the sum of one dime and will have an opportunity to get his money back by Semple's services until the 1st of September next.

Capt. Craven, who succeeds Capt. Ward in the command of the Chesapeake flotilla is a native of New Hampshire and entered the navy on a New York appointment in February 1829. He has rendered valuable service to the government, cruising off the Cuban coast and succeeded in overhauling several slaves.—His appointment to the Thomas Freeborn is not yet confirmed.

On the arrival at this navy yard of the United States sailing frigate Sabine, Capt. Adams, now of the blockade fleet, the Navy Department will canvass the disposition of her crew, as to the desire to leave or remain in the service. Many of them have already expressed a wish to enlist again, after a few days' relaxation on shore. The Sabine is a fifty gun frigate 1726 tons burden and carries five hundred sailors and marines. Blockade of Portsmouth—Saturday evening the steamer Nelly Blake took 150 seamen from the receiving ship Ohio and conveyed them to Portsmouth, where they will join the ships Marion and Dale now ready for sea. In passing the fort at the entrance of the harbor shortly after midnight the steamer was hailed—"What boat is that?" The Nelly Baker of Boston!" The answer was undoubtably not understood for the warning immediately came. "If you don't stop, I'll fire!" The speed of the steamer was then checked and her name was hailed with addition "with seamen for navy yard." "All right go ahead was the reply. Some invited guests," who were of the party breathed free when the colloquy was ended.—Transcript.

It has been proposed by the Portsmouth Steam Factory, to reduce the wages paid in the mill; but this did not meet with the favor and approval of the operatives; and accordingly the mill has been stopped.

BLEW OUT CYLINDER HEAD

The first Boston train, due here shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, was nearly one hour late in arriving owing to the blowing out of a cylinder head on the locomotive at Salisbury. Another engine was substituted from Newburyport.

Y.M.C.A. DEFEAT MORLEY BUTTON

The Young Men's Christian association defeated the Morley Button Manufacturing team, 4 to 3, Saturday afternoon in the most interesting game played in the Sunset League. Esterbrook scored the winning run in the last half of the fifth. He went to first on a pass, stole second, went to third on Goodrich's overthrow, and home when Weaver hurried the ball over Pilgrim's head. Pilgrim returned the ball to Goodrich in time to catch, Esterbrook, but Umpire Driscoll decided that the ball was blocked.

A running catch by Reardon and the batting and fielding of Connors were the features of the game. The Score.

Cloutier Went Overboard at Broughton's Wharf.

Joseph Cloutier, a stranger fell overboard Sunday evening, from Broughton's wharf and had a narrow escape. Cloutier was pretty drunk according to the police, and rolled off the dock into the river. He was seen to fall by several people and their cries attracted officers

Kelley and Philbrick who were near and they ran to the rescue. Cloutier was helpless and if it had not been for the prompt work of those standing near, he would have been drowned. He was finally hauled out on the dock and there was in such a condition that he was taken to the police station and marked drunk.

Milk Producers Make Arrangements For Next Three Months

As a result of a mass meeting of milk producers at North Hampton, the contractors have submitted equitable prices for the summer months and a schedule has been accepted for July, August and September. While the price is not definitely fixed, the Rockingham Milk company has offered to pay producers 1 cent more a can than the highest zone price in the three months and the offer is accepted. The producers accepted that term in order to keep their product away from the Hoods and other established contractors.

AN UNEASY SKELETON.

It Had a Lively Time Until Its Final Burial Ceremony.

"Speaking of final resting places," said the Purcell the other day, "an Indian buried at Wakekeny has earned his. He was the first Indian killed in the last Indian raid in Kansas. The raid was pulled off by 160 Sioux Indians, and a good many settlers were killed, considerable property was burned and hundreds of horses and cattle were stampeded. The Indians came within a few miles of Wakekeny, when a part of a cavalry regiment from old Fort Hayes met them. The Indians fled, but were forced to a stand over in the edge of Rush county.

"The history of the chase is interesting. Every Indian in the band was killed. The subject of this item tumbled off his pony near Wakekeny and rolled into a ditch. His body was not found for several months, and by that time nothing was left but a skeleton. The men who found the skeleton wired the bones together and tied it to a post on the public road, with a label telling that it was the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc. Complaint was made about the gruesome spectacle, so the county board ordered the skeleton buried in the cemetery. To celebrate the fact that civilization had come to stay speeches were made at the grave of this the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc.

"Later some 'fellies' got full, dug up the skeleton, dressed it in store clothes and had fun with it. They hired a liveryman to take their 'friend' home, and when the driver found what he had in the seat with him he yelled mightily and jumped out of the buggy. The town ran away, spilling the Indian in a park where an ice cream festival was in progress. The skeleton was again buried with ceremony, being the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc. Lo was permitted to repose about a year, when another bunch of rascals disinterred the skeleton, redressed it and shocked sensitive citizens with a moonlight lynching, shooting at the dangling figure and all that sort of thing. Officers cut the 'corpse' down, and then the gang that was wise to the joke indulged in a merry ha-ha. For the third time the skeleton was buried with more speechifying. After that the skeleton was not disturbed, and the good people of Wakekeny hope that it has found its final resting place."—Kansas City Journal.

Stage Steeds.

The steed is always a difficulty in staging "Don Quixote." At the Theatre de la Gaite, in Paris, the Rosinante in Massenet's opera grew so fat under the light work and good food that it was found necessary to "put" protruding ribs on his rotund sides every night.

Irving's difficulty in London was in the other direction. He had engaged a peculiarly decrepit animal, the property of a baker, for the part, but on the morning of the rehearsal he found that it had been taken by an officer of the S. P. C. A. to Bow street, where the magistrate ordered it to be killed.

Wild Onion Place.

In a bulletin issued by the United States geological survey service giving derivations of local names in the United States is this entry: "Chicago, city and river in Illinois; the Ottawa Indian form, 'She-kag-Ong,' signifies 'wild onion place,' from a root form implying 'bad smell.' Several derivations were dug up, but the definition of the word Chicago was generally admitted to be the most unpleasantly outspoken of them all, according to the Chicago Tribune.

Two Fatal Mistakes.

Marie Antoinette, escaping from the Tuilleries, turned to the right instead of to the left after passing the inner arch. She lost her way, lost time and by this means lost her own head and the head of Louis XIV. So the story of Carlyle runs.

Queen Draga of Serbia meant to leave Belgrade, but waited for a going away gown, being anxious that as a fugitive she should appear in becoming attire. It was a fatal delay.

An Inexpensive Amusement.

"Did you ever," said Stella, "try standing cents on edge? It can be done if the cents are not worn. They can most easily be made to stand on blotting paper, but they will stand on a smooth, polished table. Try it some time when other amusements flag."—New York Sun.

Economy.

Wife—Dearie, I started today to economize on our household expenses. Hubby—Good! How did you do it? Wife—I went to all the bakeries for blocks around, and then I bought a dozen doughnuts at the bakery that puts the smallest holes in them.—Judge.

What Would Happen.

"What would your father do if I told him I loved you?" "He'd refer the matter to me." "And what would you do?" "I'd refer you to the young man who proposed and was accepted by me while you were trying to make up your mind."

His Mean Comment.

Mrs. Doty (reprovingly)—Mrs. Bnpeck told me today that her husband always keeps her photograph on his office desk. Mr. Doty—I guess that explains why he's always late getting home to dinner.—Puck.

Truth often suffers more from the bent of its defenders than from the arguments of its opposers.—Pens.

ALFALFA IS FORAGE KING.

Grows Anywhere, Needs Only Intelligent Care and Brings Big Prices.

Here are some points on alfalfa indicating principally its value to every farmer east, west, north or south. Mr. John Wadell of Wisconsin in an interesting letter to Hoard's Dairyman says in part:

"Six years ago many farmers in the vicinity of Monroe claimed it would not grow on their land. Several farmers started with a small patch and soon found it to be a good feed. Year by year they continued growing it in larger fields. Last year they raised such an amount that by heating in the mow it caught fire and destroyed lots of feed and many buildings. But that can all be overcome. If alfalfa is properly cured there is no more danger in its heating than in timothy hay.

"A recent article in a farm paper tells how a farm proprietor in Texas sowed five acres of alfalfa and soon discovered its value. Six years later he owned 1,300 acres of alfalfa. Besides feeding his stock, he shipped hay and made a net profit of $100,000."

J. T. Anthony of Maryland says in the American Agriculturist:

"Some ten years ago I made a start with alfalfa, and after a succession of failures and successes, covering more than half this period, the light began to break. In short, you have to learn how to grow alfalfa just as you must learn how to grow fruits or vegetables of the finest quality.

"Select a well drained piece of land, not necessarily a knoll, but a piece of land that is not wet and soggy, the subsoil of which is porous, so that the plants can send their taproots down, down, without striking water. If the plot selected is deficient in plant food and humus let these be supplied and the land cultivated in some hoed crop, such as tomatoes, potatoes or corn.

"It is a rank feeder, as evidenced by its tremendous root system, and as alfalfa takes their food in solution both food and moisture must be present to sustain the young plant."

Says the Orange Judd Farmer: "There is no longer a question but that alfalfa can be grown anywhere. The only requirement is that the soil be free from surplus moisture. In other words, it must be well drained. This being accomplished, a clay subsoil or even a hard pan is no barrier. Alfalfa roots have been known to grow through twenty feet of hard clay.

"It is a very profitable crop. When sold for hay a good crop will bring

ALFALFA'S WONDERFUL ROOT.

(By courtesy Long Island Agronomist.) from $15 to $35 per acre. When used for stock feed it will often return $35 to $50. When grown for seed very frequently $30 has been secured.

"But in considering alfalfa the return from the crop is not the only consideration. It adds greatly to the richness of the soil. It takes nitrogen from the air and stores it up in large quantities for future crops. It is a protein feed and promises to solve the cheap feed problems on the high priced lands of the middle west. Farmers in this locality must have cheap feed if they are to raise live stock at a profit. They must have live stock if they are to keep up the fertility of their land. Corn and alfalfa, the corn being made into silage, with the addition of a little grain, will make milk, produce growth in young animals, will fatten beef cattle, will sustain horses, will assist in making pork cheaply and will produce eggs without number. It is also the best of mutton makers. In fact, no words of commendation can be considered extravagant. The plant is a marvel, and of this there can be no doubt."

PHYSICAL ENDURANCE.

Athletes, as a Rule, Reach the Zenith of Their Powers Early.

In athletic sports physical endurance plays the most important part. This is particularly noticeable in the Marathon races. In boxing, wrestling and rowing ability to stand the tremendous strain on the physical powers is essential.

But every athlete has his physical limitations. He reaches the zenith of his powers early and then gradually declines. A victorious Marathon runner seldom repeats his success, for he has impaired his endurance by his exertions, although he does not think so until he meets with defeat the second time he tries for first prize.

A boxer, as a rule, cannot long remain a champion in any class, although a twelve year record has been made by exceptional men. A prominent wrestler said recently that he hoped to remain in the game five years, but could not exceed that limit and still be a topnotcher.

Orsmen win their greatest victories in the first few years of their career. The baseball player holds out well because the strain on him is less violent than on most athletes and he gets needful rest. Pitchers, however, are an exception, and some hold out for many years, but most of them do not.—Boston Globe.

LAUGH AND GET FINED.

That Seems to Be a Common Occurrence in Germany.

English law is occasionally subject to criticism, but for real comedy we are a long way behind Germany.

In Berlin recently an ironworker was sent to prison for a week because he laughed. Going along the street he saw a merry-maker being chased by a particularly stout policeman, and the sight tickled him. He was promptly hauled before the court for scandal.

Another man attempted to get into a moving train and fractured his leg. After six months in the hospital he was discharged, cured, when the state railway department at once prosecuted him for breaking their regulations. The law and leg breaker was fined $1.25.

Stepping into an omnibus a man trod on the foot of a lady, who was so annoyed that she said he walked like a hen. She was fined $5 for using this term of reproach.

Claire Walcott, the Berlin singer, unwittingly told the police, however. She was warned that if she sang any of her songs on Easter Sunday there would be trouble. But the announcement was made that Claire Walcott would positively appear. She did. So did the police. And she sang—the German national anthem!

The promised prosecution did not take place.—London Answers.

Curbing the Kickers.

One of the St. Louis country clubs has an unwritten rule that whenever a member kicks for something he thinks the club ought to have it is at once put in at his expense. Not long ago a member complained of the green. "The club ought to have a couple of fine cows of its own," he roared. That ended the incident for the time being, but the first of the month he found the following item on his bill:

Two Jersey cows..... $150
The result of this policy is one of the most complete country clubs in the Mississippi valley, but the members are growing more and more cautious about kicking, and acquisitions are nothing like so common as they formerly were.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The New York Shave.

I think that the New Yorker's shave is symptomatic of the whole rate of life in New York. It is, if you will, luxurious, but you have to allow twenty minutes out of your day for it. In London I never allow more than five minutes. Here I lie down in a chair and say: "I'm in a hurry. Be as quick as you can, please." My barber surveys me with no look of interest and goes to talk for five minutes to the lady manicurist. When he returns I say from my recumbent position, "I'm in a great hurry." He says, "Yep?" interrogatively as if I had given him a piece of quite uninteresting and dispassionate information. He goes to a mirror and for some moments examines a wart upon his cheek. Eventually he shaves me.—Atlantic.

True Eloquence.

True eloquence, indeed, does not consist in speech. It cannot be brought from far. Labor and learning may toll for it, but they will toll in vain. Words and phrases may be marshaled in every way, but they cannot compass it. It must consist in the man, in the subject and in the occasion. Affected passion, intense expression, the pomp of declamation, all may inspire to it. They cannot reach it. It comes, if it comes at all, like the outbreaking of a fountain from the earth or the bursting forth of volcanic fires with spontaneous, original, native force.—Webster.

Just Once.

"But Griggs thinks you are his best friend. If you lure him into making this hopeless investment he surely will never have anything more to do with you."

"That's all right. I've never expected to use him more than once."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Every housekeeper knows how much work is entailed in keeping silver clean; furthermore, that this work must be done frequently, as the ware tarnishes even when stored away. A device has been invented by which the cleaning can be done in a fraction of the time heretofore required and without any scouring with powders or pastes. A metal pan, with a grating just above the bottom, is partly filled with a solution of warm water and a tablespoonful each of common salt and baking soda. The pan is made of a material which will not corrode from the action of these substances in the water, but this same action will remove the tarnish from silver in a few minutes. The tableware is placed on the grating in the pan and allowed to remain there for from one to two minutes if warm water is used and from five to ten minutes if the water is cold. It is then removed and wiped dry, leaving it as bright as new.

Rump Steak, Old English Style.
To prepare this have three or four pounds of rump steak cut about an inch thick. Put one tablespoonful of butter in the frying pan and let it melt without browning. Put steak in the frying pan, cover closely and let it slowly become very hot. As soon as it is thoroughly heated add salt and pepper, then keep it just simmering, never allowing it to boil until perfectly tender. It will require about an hour and a half to cook it just right. When done place the steak on a heated platter, add a little onion or tomato ketchup to the gravy in the pan, let it get very hot and pour it over the steak. Sometimes a slice of onion or carrot is added to impart a delicate flavor to the stock.

Beef Pie.
Cut remnants of cold roast beef in one inch cubes. Cover with boiling water, add half an onion and cook slowly one hour. Remove onion, thicken gravy with flour diluted with cold water and season with salt and pepper. Add potatoes cut in one-quarter inch slices which have been parboiled eight minutes in boiling salted water. Put in a buttered pudding dish and when cool cover with baking powder biscuit mixture or pie crust. Bake in a hot oven. If covered with pie crust make several incisions in crust that gases may escape. You can buy a piece of stew meat and cook for pie, but this is a good way to use left over beef.

Clam Fritters.
One pint clams, two eggs, one-third cup milk, one and one-half cups flour (sift before measuring), two teaspoons baking powder, salt and pepper. Clean clams, drain from their liquor and chop. Beat eggs until light, add milk and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder, then add chopped clams and season highly with salt and pepper. Drop by spoonfuls and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper and serve at once.

Never Fail Doughnuts.
Measure carefully four cups of sifted flour, one teaspoon of cream of tartar, half a teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of salt, a little grated nutmeg and sift twice. Beat one egg and add one cup of sugar, one cup of sweet milk. Mix thoroughly and add to the flour mixture and knead as little as possible. Cut in rings and fry brown in plenty of clean, hot lard.

Paste For Sandwiches.
Take one cup of chicken (any meat will do, but chicken is the best), one-quarter cup cheese, one cup nut meats, put all through food chopper, then add paprika, salt and a bit of curry powder if liked. Smooth to a paste with olive oil, spread thin slices of bread with butter, then put on paste and put a lettuce leaf between each slice.

Cream Sponge Cake.
Well beat two eggs, then put into a cup and fill with sweet cream, or very rich milk will do. Pour into mixing bowl, add one cup of sugar, one and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder and a pinch of salt. Beat well. Bake in moderate oven.

Molasses Candy.
Two cups sugar, one cupful molasses, one cupful water, pinch of cream of tartar, piece of butter size of a nut. Put on to boil. Don't stir. Pull as soon as cool enough. Flavor with cinnamon or anything you like.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Discord In Church.

A goose, a frog, a cat, a dog. All went to church one day. The goose went on ahead. The rest all followed on this way.

When they got there they heard the choir. And all began to sing—
The goose, the frog, the cat, the dog.
"Twas such a funny thing!

The goose went, "Cackle, cackle—bless!"
I can't tell how just now.
The frog went, "Peep!" the cat went, "Meow!"
The dog went, "Bow-wow-vow!"

The verger wouldn't have them there. He turned them out, and then
The goose, the frog, the cat, the dog,
Went walking home again. —Scraps.

The Bluejay.

If every bird told his name as plainly as does the bluejay we should have little trouble in knowing them all. "Jay-jay," he calls, with a seeming desire that every passerby notice him. It would be hard to overlook this sprightly fellow anyway. His bluish back and crest and his beautiful blue wings and long tail, which show white markings when he flies, all make him a very noticeable bird. The jay is a most inquisitive chap. He hops around in the freetops and examines everything he sees, even the nests of other birds. And when he finds something of interest he screams a loud "Jay," and all his companions gather in to enjoy the fun. When an owl is discovered the jays have a great time teasing the poor fellow, for, as they know, he hates to be chased about in the daylight by a band of screaming blue rowdies. In the nesting season, which has already begun, the bluejay settles down and makes an ideal parent. The nest is a rather large, loose collection of twigs, straws, paper and grass and is placed in a shrub or fork of a tree.

The Fountain.

There was once a child who saw a fountain playing.
"How long do you play?" she said.
"All day," replied the fountain, playing merrily.
"How idle!" said the child. "I would not play all day if I could. Do you never work?"
"Certainly I work," replied the fountain. "I work all day long."
"But you are always playing," said the child. "Playing is not work."
"Ah, well," replied the fountain. "It's all the same to me. I sparkle and shower and have the most glorious time. I am playing all the time I am working, and it's the greatest kind of a life. Why don't you get some fun out of your work too?"
"Fun," replied the child. "No, indeed. I wouldn't think of such a thing." And she turned away.
The fountain dashed a merry flick of spray after her, and the drops laughed as they fell into the water.

Conundrums.

Why does a sailor know there's a man in the moon? Because he's been to see (sea).
Why was Eve not afraid of the measles? Because she had "Adam."
Why is Sunday the strongest day in the week? Because the rest are weak days.
What is the difference between a bill and a pill? One is hard to get up, the other is hard to get down.
Why is a hive like a spectator at a show? Because it is a bee-holder.
Why is a pig the most extraordinary animal in creation? Because you first kill him before you cure him.
Why is a proud woman like a music box? Because she is full of airs.
Why is a woman mending her stockings deformed? Because her hands are where her feet belong.
When is a cow not a cow? When it is turned into a field.

The Champion Speller.

Laura Robinson, who is twelve years old and lives in Blackwell, Okla., is the best speller in the state. She proved this by defeating every other contestant at the state spelling bee held recently at Chickasha. The bee was conducted by the state board of education, and a medal was offered for the winner. Almost every county in the state sent its champion speller. The contest began at 4:30 in the afternoon and lasted until 11, with only a short intermission for supper, and then it began at 8 o'clock the next morning and continued until 2 o'clock, when the little girl from Blackwell was the only one of the contestants who had not been spelled down. Then she got the medal.

A New Attraction.

You may see something new in the circus this year. A new animal has come to America. It is a cantchill. If you should see it you might think that somebody had had a lot of pieces of toy animals and in default of something better to do had made them into one whole animal. The cantchill is as large as a fox terrier puppy that is just learning how to walk straight. It is white, looks rather like a rabbit and has a deer's head without the antlers and deer's hoofs. It really is a sort of deer, and it comes from Australia.

Black Snow.

There was an unusual snowstorm not long ago. It was in Switzerland, and the snow that fell was black. The Switzers were not especially astonished, because they have seen black snow before, and they knew that the darkness of the fall came from little insects that had come by thousands with the snow and lay so thick that the whiteness of the crystals was not to be seen.

Scottish Pearls.

A number of people in Scotland make a livelihood by searching for the precious stones which are occasionally to be found ensconced in the interior of fresh water mussels. To a lesser extent it is also carried out on some English and Welsh streams, but none of these is so prolific in pearl bearing as the northern rivers. There are authentic records of Scottish pearls being found which rivaled any the orient has produced so far as translucency and lawlessness are concerned. A writer of the eighteenth century states that £20,000 was a moderate estimate of the value of pearls then fished annually from Scottish rivers, while it is a matter of history that a German who formed a syndicate of fishers in 1865 acquired stones to the value of £12,000 in that year alone. But the industry is not so remunerative nowadays. —London Standard.

Feared Burial Alive.

The dread of premature burial haunted Harriet Martineau, who would certainly not be classed as a fanciful person, and she bequeathed £10 to her doctor to see that her body was decapitated before burial. Edmund Yates in his will stipulated that his jugular vein should be severed and left £20 to pay for the operation. Lady Burton took even stronger precautions. She enjoined that her heart should be pierced with a needle before any steps were taken to certify her death and that her body should afterward be submitted to a postmortem examination. —London Chronicle.

Lucky or Not.

"Eve was really a very lucky woman," remarked Mr. Henpeque. "She didn't have any woman to criticize her clothes."
Mrs. Henpeque's eyes snapped.
"On the other hand," she retorted, "she didn't have any woman around to envy the first gowns a woman ever had." —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Life.

Life is the finest of the fine arts. It has to be learned with lifelong patience, and the years of our pilgrimage are all too short to master it triumphantly. —Drummond.

Her Sacred Word.

"Not going to Alice's luncheon? But you gave your sacred word?"
"So I did, and I'd go in a minute if my dress had come home." —Harper's Bazar.

ELERY TWIST DRILLS, C. C. CO.

The Elery Twist Drill Company base ball team defeated the Consolidation coal company team in the Sunset League on Saturday afternoon at the play grounds by a score of 8 to 4.

"HOT ENOUGH....?"

The Sentence was Not Finished

When Bang! and the Man From York Let Go His Right

... All Joking Aside, It Is a Sizzler

Today marks the extreme in summer heat for Portsmouth. Sunday was not one, two three with that of today.

At noon the glass in the shade registered from 96 to 100 and that is certainly warm enough for everybody.

Even the sailors of the ships at the navy yard who are subject to warm climate on foreign shores say this spell beat anything they have passed through in many years.

The crew on the new bank building were unable to work only a few hours today and at noon the contractors ordered all work suspended.

The Morley Button Manufacturing company found it to warm for the employees and the entire plant and outside construction work, shut down this forenoon.

At the navy yard men in the blacksmith shops quit at noon and other departments were working with reduced forces.

At the naval prison grounds the prisoners in the working crews were unable to keep up the pace and a number of them were overcome during the forenoon. They were ordered to rest an hour at a time in a cool place along the river bank.

Railroad men found it the hardest day for many years and engineers and firemen suffered to a great extent.

PETITION FOR INJUNCTION DENIED

Chief Justice Wallace Renders Decision in First Move in Famous Eddy Case

Chief Justice Wallace of the Superior court sitting at Concord this morning denied the petition of the trustee of the Eddy will for an injunction to prevent the Counsel for the heirs of Mrs. Eddy from prosecuting their suit to set aside the will.

Counsel for the estate filed a motion for an injunction some time ago on the ground that the previous agreement made between Mrs. Eddy and her son G. W. Glover of Leadville, Col. in 1909 in which she settled several hundred thousand dollars on them prevented them from

Closing of Navy Yards

Secretary of the navy will omit from the naval estimates for the next fiscal year provision for the naval stations at Pensacola and New Orleans. This is a step toward the closing of those plants, which has been urgently recommended by Mr. Meyer and carefully explained by him in the hearings recently before the House committee on Navy Department expenditures. It is apparent that there will be the usual resistance to Mr. Meyer's plans for closing the yards at Pensacola and New Orleans and, for that matter, anywhere else which the Navy Department or the naval committees have in contemplation. The fact that the estimates will omit provision for certain of the yards will be an aid to the plan of economy as applied to navy yards and stations.

Janitor John Chickering of the administration building is enjoying a furlough of fourteen days. Harry Caswell of the public works department is substituting in his place.

The result of the recent voluntary retirement the following officers will be promoted.
